

Industry House Climate & Environmental Justice

Join This House

If you are a community organizer, policy maker or otherwise a passionate advocate of climate and environmental justice.

Highlighting and combating blatant climate justice violations are essential to cultivating a strong self-sustaining community.

Practitioners in this house share insights and perspectives on progress through their work.

MEMBERS ARE SKILLED IN...

- Policy Change, Lobbying
- Community Organizing
- Technical/Scientific Data & Education
- Local, State, Federal, Global Advocacy
- Historical & Present Environmental issues and impacts
- Environmental Law

FACTS

2022

The CDC released the EJI in 2022, which identifies areas most at risk for the health impacts of environmental burden.

-US Department of Health and Human Services (2023)